

5 Day Leaders Challenge Program

In the wake of criticism of executive retreats that cost millions of dollars, this Leadership Challenge Program is something no one can complain about. You get your money's worth! Only company Leadership personnel are allowed here. Leadership teams will pair with Green Beret survival experts, and taken on a little "walk" around the countryside, and given objectives to find and move to. Subjects such as land navigation techniques, food procurement, emergency shelter, survival techniques and much more are part of this "walk". Certain problems along the way will be encountered that will challenge even the best. Your leadership team has to figure it out and move forward all the while staying together as a LEADERSHIP TEAM.
